High Point

Randall Bryant Terry Jr., president and publisher of the High Point Enterprise, and also a part-owner of the International Home Furnishings Center, died Tuesday at age 69.

Terry's family was part owner of the Enterprise since 1920.

His friends remember him as a discreet benefactor to causes dear to him and as a businessman whose family has been pivotal in the development of High Point's daily newspaper and of the city's twice-a-year home furnishings markets.

"Number one, he was a very astute businessman. He also was very passionate about projects and things he became involved with," said High Point attorney and longtime friend Jim Morgan said. "Randall was his own man. If you got to know him, you learned from him, and enjoyed knowing him."

Enterprise general manager Gary Moore said Terry reflected on his life in a recent conversation.

"About three weeks ago, he told me he thought he had been successful in many ways, and, while not successful in everything he tried, he was proud of what he accomplished," Moore said. "It was always his goal to provide High Point with a first-class newspaper, which provided our community with comprehensive coverage of High Point activities and successes."

Terry also gained a reputation as an outstanding bridge player. He competed in national tournaments and attained the rank of gold life master within the American Contract Bridge League.

Terry graduated from Woodberry Forest School in 1953 and from Duke University in 1957. He received an MBA from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1961.

Woodberry's headmaster, the Rev. Dennis Campbell, will preside at Terry's funeral at Wesley Memorial Church.

Also, Terry was a longtime contributor to North Carolina State University's College of Veterinary Medicine. The college's new teaching facility will be called the Randall B. Terry Jr. Companion Animal Veterinary Medical Center, a title approved by the college's board of directors in February.
